HILO'S RACE DAY

RACES WERE GREAT AND CROWDS WERE SATISFIED

WOMEN'S CLUB GAVE CONCERT IN EVENING THAT DREW MANY—HONOLULUANS DROPPED DOLLARS

(Special to The Bulletin)

HILO, Hawaii, July 5.—Oahu or Kauai did not get a look-in except as sightseers at the Hawaii Jockey Club's Fourth of July meet. All of the horse races were won by the Hawaii owners. Even the big Merchants' Stakes, the much-advertised $1000, purse, run at Hilo, as Lazelle, the race horse that came under the wire first in the hottest-contested race of the day, is owned jointly by a Hilo man and John O'Rourke, who brought the horse from California for the race.

Two thousand people viewed the races, a banner crowd for Hilo. There were no serious accidents and even Hilo's most intractable weather cleared early in the morning and by noon the track was in fair condition for the program of ten races that was pulled off.

Olga Bill, the winner of the one-mile hand race, also won the fifth race, the gentlemen's riding contest. The second race was a half-mile for Hawaiian-bred horses. Easter Day, owned by C. E. Wright, secured the $75 purse offered for the winner.

The third race was for the big stakes. It had been generally conceded that Lazelle, the imported horse, was the probable winner but the other entries looked good to many and there was much side-betting. And it was a race! Bruner, L. Petrie's horse, followed the winner a close second under the wire.

There were two Japanese races on the program. And it looked like the Japanese had the racing game down pat from the way they jockeyed for a start and the trouble they gave Starter W. H. Campbell.

In the ninth race, a mile and a half for all, for a purse of $150 and a Primo Cup, Lazelle was started again. But the winner of the big purse lost the mule on the race, being won by Fidia, a four-year-old owned by John T. Moir.

In the tenth race, the final one of the day, Honolulu sports thought they might get one race and played to do so. But they were all called to reasoning that totalled loss. On the program were several entries, but the starters were only three, the Kama races being withdrawn. This left only L. Petrie's four-year-old indigo to contest the race with Major Collier, from the Volcano stables, as the third horse was merely a filler to comply with the rules for three to start. The race was one of the best and most exciting of the day. The two horses got off well together, the Honolulu favorite taking the lead and was allowed to hold it to the last eighth of the mile. From here the Hilo horse came on to the wire with the other following. Then the backers of the Honolulu horse paid their bets and looked and felt various ways while the Hilo racing sports jibed them with "You didn't win a race. We even an old race today."

While Hilo got all that was coming in the horse races, the Oahu won the football game with a score of 1 to 0 and the Chinese from Honolulu took the baseball game with a 7-to-3 score.

In the evening the Hawaiian Women's Club gave a concert, which was largely attended and much enjoyed. The program follows:

1. Chorus, "To Thee, Hawaii Po-
not!".....Julius Eighen

2. "When the Roses Bloom Again!"
.....Gus Edwards

3. Trio, "Pua Delia"

PUNS PLAY LIKE SAND LOTERS

The brand of bull passed out by the Puns Saturday, when they looked up for nine rounds with the Kamas, was certainly the rough article and only could be duplicated in some sand lot or street corner league. The Newsboys League at Makiki resembles the major league when compared with that showing made by the Punahou aggregation.

To begin with this team came to the grounds three men short and it looked for a time as though the match would be called off. While the spectators patiently waited in the stand Captain Ed Desha rustled up Harry Wilder, Jim Winne and "Sure-hit" Olukou. Harry Wilder was stayed away by Father Time some eight or ten years ago and now carries so much weight that he could easily start in Jeffries' class. Tom Olukou is a joke. He never could play ball and the way that he swung at Reuter's benders almost caused him to dislocate his shoulder. Winne is a fair player and made a creditable showing. Johnny Williams, who has a grievance, sat on the bench and would not play.

Things started merrily for Punahou and they succeeded in getting Ed Desha around the bases on two hits and a passed ball by Hampton.

When the Puns took the field Wilder donned the mask and protector and Bill Hamp went on the slab. Well Harry used to be a fine catcher in the good old days of the Stars, but now he is "all in." Luck was with the Puns in the first and they allowed Miller to get to the initial corner but no further.

In the awful second the bars were let down by the waters of the Blue and Gold socks and just eight Kamas and their benches with runs chalked after their names. Five bingles off Hamp, some rack errors in the field and a wretched exhibition of throwing to bases. Any Kama who got on first kept going until he reached third. Eleven stolen bases tells the story as to the running the Kamas did. Those eight runs were piled up in the following manner: Lota binged over-first, stole second and went to third on Kubina's long fly to Kia. By the way Kia handled this ball in big league style and received the glad hit after he had puffed it in. It was a hard ball well headed. "Steam-Plo" Plunkett punched one to right and Lota came home. Kamatopli broke into the league with a pretty punt (this was all he got) and Plunkett spiked the rubber. Hamnauk and Lemon completed the circuit on Vannatta's hit to center. Lota hit to left and Miller came in. Lota got a second run in this inning.

Poor Bill Hampton worked overtime and pitched the best he could, considering the backing up that he received. The game dragged along and there was little or no excitement. The fans settled back in their seats and waited until the second game.

Reuter held the Puns safe and allowed but three hits and these all in the first two innings. Punahou scored two in the fourth and one in the eighth.

SAINTS DRUB PITCHER LESLIE

Although the Saints scored 9 runs to the Diamonds 0, the game between these two teams on Saturday was fast and full of brilliant work that kept the fans exercising their lungs to the utmost power. Both teams were out to win and many thought before the game that the Diamonds had the long end. The Saints went into the battle weakened by the loss of J. Williams, En Sue and Aylett. These are three fast players to lose. The Saints did not need them, however, as the score will testify.

It was Leslie's bad day and he could not stand under the rapid fire of the Saints' big sticks. Hit after hit was scored off the Clown and at last he was forced to give up his place to Long Bill Chillingworth, who also got a taste of the Saints' bats.

The game started in from the jump to be a red hot article. For four innings the brush was used by both teams and then the Saints got home the first punch, inning 5: Soares, the first man up, stroled and went to third on a poor throw by Davis to second. Rushnell delivered the groceries with a heat to left garden. Soares came in with the first run. A wild pitch by Leslie let Bush go on to third. The next play was a funny one. Bush was playing off the bag and Davis tossed to catch him; the ball hit Rushnell in the back and rolled toward Ed Fernandez. Bushnell made a dive for the plate and Ed Fernandez on the throw-in again hit Bush between the shoulders. The runner was safe and scored the second run.

In their half of the fifth the Diamonds had a fine chance to score, but owing to poor base running failed. Soper, first up, hit safe over second. Bill Chillingworth with a hit and Olukou moved them up a peg. Soper tried to score on an infield hit and would have easily made it had he slid. With three men on bases Bushnell pulled out of a tight place amid much rooting.

In the sixth Evers made a pretty double, catching Davis and Sam Chini in fact Evers played one of his sensational games and ate up all sorts of hard bouncers.

In the seventh, eighth and ninth the Saints began to straighten out all sorts of benders and in these three innings they bunched six hits, which counted for seven runs.

The Diamonds blew up and all were in dreamland—Leslie exchanged places with Bill Chini. Brother Sammie dropped most everything that came his way. Darcy had an off day and Davis longed for home. Yes, it was a bad day for the Diamonds, but they will work harder than ever and that team is still a big factor in the League and will yet make a strong bid for first honors.

Bushnell pitched a good steady game for the Saints and kept the Diamond batters guessing all the way.
